Responsibility for cleaning facilities:

Users of the wharves, transit sheds and other facilities of the port are held responsible for cleaning the property assigned to their use.

Stevedores and other users are expected to leave the wharves, sheds, and lots clean after using the facilities. Cleaning of wharves must be completed within 24 hours of completion of use or sooner if directed to do so by the Port Authority. Failure to do this work will result in the Port Authority performing this work, with the cost being charged to the responsible party at the rate of actual cost plus 20%.

Additionally, any user (including lessees) which has placed or left equipment in unauthorized areas (areas not approved by the Port Authority), shall be assessed charges at the rate of $500.00 per day for each day said equipment remains in unauthorized area(s). Charges will commence 24 hours after notification of the responsible party said equipment is in an unauthorized area and will continue until the equipment is removed. The Port Authority reserves the right to remove or relocate said equipment at actual cost plus 20% in addition to the daily charge set forth above. The Port Authority does not assume any responsibility for the care of any equipment to which these charges apply.

Responsibility for charges and payment:

Wharfage, wharf demurrage, and loading and unloading are due from the shipper of the cargo, unless other prior arrangements are made with the Port Authority, and will be collected upon performance of these services.

All services rendered by the Port Authority for wharfage, dockage, wharf demurrage, shed and wharf hire, charges for providing water and electricity, charges for equipment rental, cleaning wharves and sheds, terminal storage and special services will be charged to the vessel owner, charterer, or operator.

Submission of a berth request by the steamship agent for the vessel that incurs the charges constitutes acceptance by the agent of all terms and conditions of this tariff and agreement to pay all charges against the vessel.

The Port Authority does not recognize the numerous shippers or consignees, and cannot attempt to collect or assist in collecting any port invoices or bills which may be passed on to shippers or consignees by the vessel, its owner or agent. Such bills must be paid regardless of when the vessel, its owner and agent are reimbursed. Any errors in the bills will be rectified by the Port Authority.

All invoices are rendered in accordance with this tariff and are due upon presentation. Failure to pay within 30 days may, at the option of the Port Authority, result in the responsible party being placed on the delinquent list. Any parties placed on the delinquent list may be denied further use of the Port Authority facilities until all outstanding charges have been paid.

The Port Authority reserves the right to estimate and collect, in advance, all charges which may accrue against vessels, their owners or agents, or other users of the facilities, or against cargo loaded or discharged by such vessels or other users of the facilities, whose credit has not been properly established with the Port Authority. Use of the facilities may be denied unless such advance payments or deposits are made.

Presentation of bills to owners or agents of vessels or to stevedores is executed as a matter of accommodation and convenience, and shall not constitute a waiver of the liens for charges furnished a vessel.

Removal of abandoned/objectionable cargo:

The Port Authority reserves the right to move abandoned cargo and dispose of same after due notice, as well as remove freight or other material, which, in its judgment, is likely to damage other property. Removal and disposal of such cargo will be at the risk and expense of the owner.

The port reserves the right to take and retain possession of all cargo until charges are paid in full, and also reserves the right to sell cargo for unpaid terminal charges according to law. The port is not liable or responsible for any direct or consequential damages to cargo resulting from exercising its rights under this provision.
